

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Suit has been brought and attachment issued in court in the case of Andrews & Gensler vs. Rums & Roach.

The county commissioners met today with a full house, but transacted no business beyond the passing of some bills.

Cross, the crack catcher of last year's base ball club, stopped over several hours this morning on his way to Louisville.

John Connors was found asleep at the target on East Main street yesterday morning and run in for loitering by Officer Reed.

The Central hose reel spent the morning washing out the sewer-pipe in front of the station house. The chain-gang are doing the work.

A telegram from New York this afternoon says: "The firm of Rums & Roach, in the iron business at 130 and 134 Cedar street, assigned today for the benefit of their creditors, without preference."

Seats are being put up at the Fair Grounds for the accommodation of those who wish them. Tickets will be on sale at C. H. Pierce & Co., J. M. Gugenheim, Grants Sons, and J. M. Donnell at 10 o'clock.

Charles Jackson, whose death occurred a few days ago, was a member of Camp 51, P. A. S. of A. The camp passed resolutions deploring his death and expressing sympathy for the relatives and friends of the deceased. This camp will have important business next meeting.

A large quantity of tools belonging to carpenters employed on Z. M. Johnson's house burned up on the 7th yesterday. The loss is a serious one to the owners. It is now thought possible the fire was caused by traps or others roasting corn in the house and that it was not intentional.

Yesterday morning as John Rankins was crossing the street car track at the East street shops, a bucket lying in the road became entangled in his wheel and gave him a header which dislocated the elbow joint of his left arm. He came into the office of Drs. Russell & McLaughlin, where his arm was set.

The G. A. R. committee has received the 7th and 24th regiments. Also those of the 1st and 5th batteries and 9th battalion. Col. White goes to Columbus tonight to expedite transportation of the 14th and 16th regiments. The work of pitching them goes on tomorrow, a large force of men being employed.

Mr. Charles M. Daugherty, until recently one of employees in the Treasury department, from this Congressional district, is now filling the position of news editor on the Washington, D. C. Post. The Post is one of the newest papers published at the Capital, and Mr. Daugherty will hold his end of the string well in tact.

Mr. J. A. Brown, a colored letter carrier in Cleveland, has been endorsed by the colored people of that city for legislative honors and will, in all probability, succeed the Hon. J. P. Green, from Cuyahoga county. Mr. Brown's mother, brother and sister reside at Wilberforce near Yellow Springs, and is well known by many of our colored people.

A picked nine, made up of local players, go to Xenia tomorrow to open the Xenia baseball grounds. The home team will be composed of: Metcalf, catcher; Bradford, pitcher; Mulhearn, second base; Fisher, first base; Leaty, third base; Shay, short stop; Segerson, left field; Cavanaugh, center field; Lyons, right field, and Hagans, substitute.

On Saturday night Pat Hughes was jailed by Officers Nicklas and Ward on a charge of embezzlement. It seems that earlier in the evening Pat Connors had given him a dollar at Walsh's "arcade" on the corner of Cherry and York streets, telling him to buy a quart of beer and bring back the change. He never saw anything more of the beer nor change.

The mayor had a full court this afternoon, the following being the cases, all $1 and costs: Maggie Kramholz vs. Mrs. Carey, Robt. Lisle, Al Miller, Sallie Clark, John Connors, James Culbertson, Chas. Peters, Sylvester Digan, R. D. Van Camp, J. L. Spaulding, John Cable, drunk and disorderly, $2 and costs. Ed. Peters, drunk and disorderly, case dismissed on promise to desist.

Two Union News company employees indulged in a sportive wrestling match this forenoon in front of the supply room on Market street. One, named Clippinger, fell and dislocated one of his ankles. He was taken into the central engine house and the dislocation reduced by Dr. A. M. Potter, who was called. The name of the young fellow he was wrestling with is Ross.

Between 4 and 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon Marshal Hoter and another man named Hubert, who were on a high spree, unhitched a horse belonging to a countryman, hitched on East Main street, near Spring, and drove it about town for an hour, returning it, finally, somewhat the worse for wear. Hoter was arrested at John Spangenberg's saloon this morning by Officer Wilson.

Chief Simpson believing that a "stitch in time saves nine," has been examining the fire sisters formerly depended upon and has found several in bad condition. All such are being put in repair again: the time when they will be needed again. This morning the Queen steamer was out pumping out the cistern at Plum and Washington streets, which is leaky. It will be put in condition again and re-filled ready for duty.

A MIDNIGHT MARRIAGE.

FOLLOWING AN EXTREMELY ROMANTIC ELOPEMENT.

A Prosperous Youth Wins the Love of a Beautiful Heiress—Too Young to Marry—His Family Gives Valuable Assistance—Married on Board Ship.

The train from Cincinnati arriving here at 11 o'clock last evening brought back Clayton Sells and Mr. and Mrs. Jessie F. Sells, nee Barbara W. Dinkel, the beautiful and wealthy daughter of the late Stephen Dinkel, proprietor of the Dinkel brewery. The story of their courtship and marriage is slightly romantic, to say the least. The young husband is a boy of 20 years, son of John Sells, until recently proprietor of a feed store on West Main street. Until about six months ago he was a co-maker in the West End Millable shoe, but since that time he has been a wholesale hay dealer. As an employee of the shops he was known as a good steady worker, and since he has been in business for himself his energy and faithfulness brought him prosperity. The time of his first meeting with the heiress of the story is a little misty. He himself says he met her about five or six months ago, while his brother Clayton says that the meeting occurred over a year ago. However that may be, the fact still remains that they were in love with each other and have had everything their own way ever since she returned a couple of months ago from Cincinnati, where she had been in school during the past winter. It seems that her guardian, C. W. Constantine, permitted her to do pretty much as she pleased and was entirely unaware that Cupid had anything to do with the maiden's life. As she is only 17 years old, and her lover was still under age, it was impossible for them to get a license here without her guardian's consent, and they put their heads together to plan an elopement. The young lady selected as her boarding place the residence of her lover's parents, on Cedar street, and has been there for the past five or six weeks. Preparations were made for the marriage with great deliberation, the Sells family and their friends being perfectly aware of what was going on. On Saturday last everything was ready and the couple with the groom's older brother, Clayton Sells, as guardian angel and chaperon, took their way to Cincinnati on the morning train intending to get married in Kentucky. The Engineer of yesterday has them written up thusly: "A rather good-looking and stylish couple struck the Kentucky shores yesterday on a matrimonial mission. That they were lovers was only too strongly illustrated by the strict and careful attention that the gentleman paid to the lady. She was exceedingly beautiful, and her registered age was just sixteen years, according to the Ohio estimate, which is about one year behind that of Kentucky. She wore a straw hat bleached, heavily trimmed in white satin and feathers. Her dress was of pink satin, with lace front, and her hat set with artistic grace on her hair, which she wore in a Pompadour. She wore the latest cut of a Newport tie, with pink hose (as far as visible), and altogether she looked like a belle at a country picnic, and was possessed of a disposition that melted all the young bloods on the street, who only reach the height of their ambition when they can guy a girl that flashes good harness. Her intended was a young-looking fellow dressed in a suit of police blue, and wore a white hat with a black band. The men claimed to hail from Springfield, Ohio, then Columbus, Ohio, while the girl said that she was from Pittsburg. Subsequent developments, however, proved that they were both from Springfield, Ohio. The young man is well known in that vicinity, where he is engaged in the purchase of hay. They first tried to get a license in this city, but failed. They then went to Covington, where they met with similar lack of success, owing to the fact that the girl had not reached the age which is required by Kentucky laws before they can get married. They then went to Newport, but failed to get a license. The clerk declined to issue them a license, although the girl and her intended and his brother all made a pitiful appeal for the document which would give a minister the privilege of uniting two hearts. The guardian racket was then applied for before the County Judge. Here they met with a double rebuff. In the first place, the Commonwealth's Attorney, Judge W. W. Cleary, has given orders to County Judges to stop this thing of appointing guardians for Ohio and Indiana lovers who are asking favors. The next thing, it transpired that the girl has a guardian who is an ex-Mayor of Springfield, Ohio.

After this getting left at every turn the undivided lovers and their big brother boarded the steamer "Big Sandy" for Portsmouth at 5 o'clock and continued their search for a license and a preacher. When they arrived at Portsmouth at 1 o'clock at night Clayton skipped out in town to skirmish for the indispensable, having bribed the captain to hold the steamer until his return. He neglected to state the ages of the party this time, and then obtained the precious paper, returning in about a half an hour with it and a clergyman, whom he had jacked out of his downy couch and pious dreams. The steamer moved on up the stream a little piece, veered over to the Kentucky side, and there, in the dead of night, the minister read the ceremony by the dim light of a coal oil lamp in the stuffy little cabin, with the brother and the captain as witnesses of the ceremony. The newly united pair remained at Portsmouth over night, taking the morning steamer for Cincinnati and starting thence for Springfield at 7 o'clock last evening. For the present they are domiciled with the parents on Cedar street but will soon remove to a home of their own. The groom was on the street bright and early this morning, and when interviewed by a Globe-Republican reporter seemed very jubilant over the success of the "elope." "I was quite willing to talk and wanted to be given a good 'send off.' 'Rather lively family you belong to,' remarked the reporter to Clayton Sells a little later. 'Oh, yes, we have to keep things moving in the West. We are a little bit lively, but none of us ever got entangled with the law but Charlie—for that Kelly racket, you know.' 'How did that affair end?' 'The suit was withdrawn, and Charlie is still here.' 'Did he ever marry the Kelly girl?' 'No, nor don't intend to.'

Victims Vandalism. On last Friday Mr. John H. Wilson discovered that two fine mares on his farm, three miles north of town, had been severely injured, one having the tendons and muscles of her hind leg cut just above the knee joint, and the other having an ugly gash on the "pasture" joint near the hoof of her hind foot. At first he thought the horses had snagged themselves, but when he saw the horses were examined by Dr. Chas. Worth, of this city, who pronounced them cut from an axe or some similar weapon.

To Physicians.

We do not find fault, reproach or condemn the practice of any regular physician—this is not our mission. We do claim that if he were to add PAINEX to his prescriptions, as directed in our book on the "Life of Life," (and furnished gratuitously by all druggists), he would cure all his patients.

Mr. Henry C. Reynolds, Ironton, Lawrence County, Ohio, writes: "My wife has been sorely distressed for many years. Her disease or diseases and the symptoms of them have been so varied that an attempt to describe them would be more paid over a thousand ($1,000) dollars for doctors and medicines for her, without any satisfactory results. We read so much about your PAINEX that I was forced to try it. She has now taken five bottles; they have done her more good than all the doctors and medicines that she has ever made use of. PAINEX is certainly a God-send to humanity."

Mrs. O. L. Gregory, Las Vegas, San Miguel County, New Mexico, writes: "I think PAINEX and MANALIN saved my life."

Mrs. Cora Engel, First House on LaSalle street, near Rich, Columbus, Ohio, says: "It affords me much pleasure to state to you the benefit I have received from your PAINEX. I had been troubled with kidney complaint and dizziness in my head for eighteen years. I tried different kinds of patent medicines, and consulted a number of physicians, but received no benefit whatever. About three weeks ago I commenced the use of PAINEX. I began to get better before I had taken half a bottle. The dizziness has disappeared, and the other affection has so much improved that I am positive, after I will have taken another bottle, I will be entirely well. I feel like a different person already. A number of my friends have used it, and they think it is a wonderful remedy. My husband says it is one of the best medicines for a cough that he ever took."

A. W. Blackburn, Wooster, O., writes: "Several weeks ago a man came to me, all broken down, terribly nervous, stomach without any power to digest food. Had tried four doctors; none did him any good. Asked me to do something for him. I recommended MANALIN. He told me to-day that he has been taking it regularly, and is now almost well. Said he would sound the praises of MANALIN far and near."

PAINEX is sold by all druggists. Price $1.00 per bottle, six bottles $5.00. If you cannot get it from your druggist, we will send it on receipt of regular price. We prefer you buy it from your druggist, but if he won't do so, we will send it to you by mail, but you must pay for it.

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

Sunday Evening at the Second Baptist Church.

While Abraham Lincoln issued the proclamation that freed millions of American slaves, Gen. Grant, by his gallant deeds in arms, made possible the fulfillment of that promise, and he held a place in the regard of the colored people hardly second to that of Lincoln himself. In response to a press notice, the colored citizens of Springfield last evening filled the spacious audience room of the Second Baptist church, on South Factory street, holding a special service in memory of the great soldier and executive officer.

Rev. Wilton B. Boone, pastor of the church, was chairman and in stating the object of the meeting made some appropriate remarks. James G. Clayton was secretary. On motion a committee consisting of E. O. Jackson, Henry Madison and L. P. Hunter was appointed on resolutions and at once retired to draft the same. During their absence Dr. T. J. Whitcomb was introduced and spoke with such force and pathos as to touch all hearts. The line of thought pursued was General Grant's persistence in that he undertook. W. S. Newberry, Esq., was the next speaker. He reviewed General Grant's life from boyhood to its close, eulogizing him as a faithful, trustworthy friend of the oppressed race. On this point the speaker was especially eloquent and impressive, and the facts presented will be long remembered.

Graham Duwell Esq. followed in a masterly effort upon the lessons taught by the life of the departed hero and staunch friend of the colored race.

Rev. Mr. Fields, of Alabama, in beautiful imagery, pictured this central figure of the nineteenth century in the "bright beyond," crowned with glory, viewing things of earth. Wm. Miles spoke of his four years service under Grant in the Union army, where he often saw and learned to admire and confide in him.

Rev. Mr. Boone closed by a thrilling appeal to the people to hold sacred the memory of so true a friend, and hoped that the rising generation would pattern and model their lives after so honored a hero.

The resolutions were then presented, as follows:

Whereas, by Divine will America's greatest hero and our staunchest friend has been called from labor to reward the man of unrivaled destiny, statesmanship and military requirements of the modern age, who, in common with mourning nations, show our sorrow and gratitude as a tribute of cherished respect;

Resolved, That in the death of U. S. Grant we, the black-skinned race of this country, have lost a most honest and devoted friend, a true and noble man, to whom we are indebted as a nation for the freedom of our race, and as individuals, we are indebted to him for the peace and stability of our country.

Resolved: That his kindness as a Military chieftain and courtesy as executive ruler, entitling the rights and liberties of all citizens without discrimination, was the outburst of a good and noble heart, for which our race has reason to extol and reverence his name as our public benefactor, first among the three who rescued the right—Great Lincoln, Sumner.

The resolutions were adopted. The singing by the choir was grand. It was conducted by C. D. Sayre. Special mention should be made of a solo song by Mrs. Diana Hackley, sister of the Wilb-free Concert Co., also member of the Baptist choir, entitled "Praise as a Bird." Her voice was in fine trim and the solo was well received.

AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.

Yesterday morning at the First Baptist, the pastor, Rev. A. L. Wilkinson, preached a very pointed and appropriate sermon showing that God controls the destinies of nations as well as individuals, as deduced from the life and death of General U. S. Grant. His text was the 27th verse of the 1st chapter 24 Samuel, "How are the mighty fallen and the weapons of war perished!" He said, in substance, that no predicament or emergency would or had arisen in the lives of individuals or the history of nations which had not been foreseen and provided for by God. To verify that this view was true, he referred to strikingly familiar episodes which are so prominent in the history of our own nation as cogently and aptly illustrating the principle set forth. When the revolutionary war broke out, caused by tyrannical oppression of England, the military mistress of the world, our illustrious fathers were led to victory by the father of our country, assisted by his able civil colleagues who formed a stellar embodiment of brain and peculiar executive ability, which seemed to be providential in its formation. So when the champions of abolition had buried upon them the vile epithets of derision from the lips of their countrymen, they maintained a demeanor of stoicism as they proclaimed their God given sentiments of liberty to all men, which in time culminated in the election of Abraham Lincoln to the presidency as the emancipator of an enslaved race. Then when the perpetuity of our nation and its institutions were threatened by civil war, Lincoln, surrounded by a cabinet peculiarly constituted for that great emergency, guided the ship of state safely through the perils of the rebellion at the seat of government, while Gen. U. S. Grant, the illustrious military chieftain and commander of the Union armies, vanquished the enemy upon the battle field. And Grant, with his imperturbable spirit, succeeded in quieting the rebellion after others had failed because of his great military genius and because he was the one who was especially fitted and designed for the work which devolved upon him. And now in the day of our national sorrow which is felt the south as well as the north we see an undivided nation. God moves in mysterious ways but his hand and wisdom are manifest as we study the history of nations.

Schumacher and Joseph Buss committee on decorations. Leo Braun and Jo. Looker on music and dancing. The several committees intend to make as big a thing of it as possible.
